Penny Meters Popular Again

Mrs. Frank Shuman of Beloit (above) was one of the many shoppers who took advantage of the return of penny meters in the downtown Salem business district Thursday.

The meters were converted to nickel "slots" early in the winter but after many public complaints, City Council and Mayor Dean Cranmer decided to revert to the original plan. The Magee-Hale Park-O-Meter Co. of Oklahoma City converted the meters by a simple mechanical adjustment and at no charge to the city since the firm holds the '62 meter contract. There was continued evidence of the popularity of the penny meters today. Stores were busy.

A penny buys six minutes of time on a meter and is multiplied by six up to a maximum of two hours.

Top-Ranking Reds Arrested by U.S.

NEW YORK (AP)—Two top-ranking American Reds, Gus Hall and Benjamin J. Davis, have been arrested in the first crack-down on Communist party officials who refuse to register the party with the government under the Subversive Activities Control Act.

They were allowed to go free overnight, but were ordered to post bail of $5,000 each today.

Thieves Steal Five TV Sets In Columbiana

COLUMBIANA — Police are seeking thieves who hurled a brick through a display window at the J & E Record Shop at 157 S. Main St. and stole five portable television sets valued at about $1,000 early this morning.

Police said the theft occurred at about 2:40 a.m.

They were notified by a nearby resident who was awakened by the noise in time to see a green 1952 Ford sedan drive away. He provided police with partial license plate numbers.

The witness said the three men in the auto were Negroes. The sheriff's office and Ohio Highway Patrol were alerted.

Edwin Altomare, the shop owner, said the loss is covered by insurance.

Called by police shortly after the theft occurred, he boarded up the window.

GENEVA (AP)—The 17-nation disarmament conference called on Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko today to start prompt informal negotiations on their rival disarmament plans.

The move, proposed by India, came in the third session of the conference after Brazilian Foreign Minister Francisco S. Thiago Dantas urged the nuclear powers to carry out negotiations to the extreme limit of compromise. He said the smaller nations can play an important role in seeking compromise by negotiation.

With much formal speechmaking remaining and the foreign ministers expected to be in Geneva only about a week more, Indian Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon urged that Rusk and Gromyko as well as other delegation leaders waste no time in getting together for informal talks.

Rusk, who supported Menon's suggestion, met with the Indian delegation head immediately after the conference session.

Conference prospects suffered a blow Thursday night when the Soviet Union rejected President Kennedy's terms for a test ban. Resumption of U.S. nuclear weapon tests in the atmosphere next

Admission Is Read to Boyd Jury

The double-barrelled 12-gauge shotgun used in the Nov. 5 slaying of Nancy Lee Boyd and a 26-page statement by Boyd on how he killed his 18-year-old estranged wife were presented as the prosecution completed its case today in Boyd's trial at Lisbon.

Mrs. Winifred Byers of Salem, court reporter, took the stand to read a transcript of Boyd's Nov. 21 statement of how he hurled a jack handle at his wife on the lonely land along Beaver Creek and then—thinking her dead—shot her in the head.

Defense Lawyers Object

Atty Ben Berman and Atty. Robert Kapp, counsel for the 23-year-old defendant, objected to the introduction of the statement because Prosecutor William Brokaw had not described previous questioning of Boyd who told authorities Nov. 21 he was the teen-aged mother's killer after he had taken a lie detector test at Lisbon.

However, when Judge Raymond Buzzard offered the defense the opportunity to introduce witnesses that the statement had not been made voluntarily or under threat, Kapp and Berman conferred with Boyd, then said they would not introduce such witnesses "at this time."

Told Of Night's Events

In the statement read by Mrs. Byers, Boyd told of the farewell party he attended the night before the killing, the visit to Higg's Inn, his seeing Nancy Lee leave a car in front of her Dresden Ave. home early Nov. 5, and his picking her up.

He said they drove around—"Just talking"—then went to the Beaver Creek site where he found he had a flat tire.

While he was fixing it—"we hadn't quarreled"—he commented to her, as she was getting a can of beer from the car, that his hands, soiled by the tire and tools, "are as dirty as your nigger friend."

"She laughed. . . said she liked his music. . . said she hadn't been out with him. . ."

"That was when I threw the tire tool," the statement quoted Boyd.

According to the statement, Boyd said he didn't remember if he hit her again—"If she had more marks on her head, I guess I did."

He said he sat her up—"She had a bunch of blood all over her"—and tried to find a pulse. He then pulled her over the hillside, finished changing the tire, then went back to see if she was alive—"But she was dead."

He then got the gun from the car, loaded it and returned to her and fired it at her head.

Major U.S. Marriage Boom Is Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP)—A government statistician says a major marriage boom is coming in the United States.

Dr. Forrest E. Linder, director of the National Center for Health Statistics, made the prediction and asked a House Appropriations group for more funds to help keep track of it.

Linder, in testimony made public Thursday, said boys and girls born in the high birth-rate period that followed World War II are reaching marriage age now.

month appeared inevitable as a result.

The Soviets once more refused to accept foreign inspectors on their territory to check against violations of a test ban. They appeared certain to maintain this opposition to international inspection where all other disarmament measures were concerned.

The Western powers were just as adamant in their refusal to disarm without international inspection of the Soviets. Without a break in the East-West deadlock over inspection measures, top Western diplomats saw no hope for progress—but they intended to keep on trying, for weeks or months, if necessary.

Moscow's answer to Kennedy's test ban proposal was given Thursday night by Soviet Ambassador Semyon K. Tsarapkin. The U.S. President announced two weeks ago he had ordered a new atmospheric test series to begin in late April but would cancel it if the Soviet Union would agree to ban all tests under an international inspection system.

Tsarapkin met with U.S. negotiator Arthur Dean and British delegate Joseph Godber. Later an American spokesman announced the Soviet had turned down Kennedy's proposal abruptly and completely — without qualification. Tsarapkin declared the Soviet Union would accept a ban only with a national inspection system—each of the nuclear powers policing its own pledge.

The Soviet action was expected. The Soviets for months have contended that detection instruments are so far advanced that a sneak nuclear blast can be detected from thousands of miles away, and Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko reportedly again told Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home earlier in the week that his government would not accept foreign inspectors to verify compliance with a test ban treaty.

Slayton Grounded By Heart Ailment

WASHINGTON (AP)—A heart condition detected more than two years ago will keep astronaut Donald K. Slayton from becoming the next American to venture into space.

The assignment of following along the trail blazed by John H. Glenn Jr. will go instead to M. Scott Carpenter, another member of the seven-man Mercury space team.

The switch in plans was announced Thursday night by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Earlier in the day an Air Force medical board had reviewed Slayton's condition—an "erratic heart rate"—and advised against his attempting the physically trying space mission.

On learning he had been scratched the Air Force major, 38, said "I'm very disappointed to say the least."

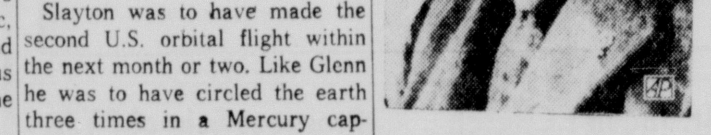

The space agency said the heart trouble was detected in November 1959, but it was decided to keep the former jet pilot in the program while keeping a close watch on his condition.

Slayton was to have made the second U.S. orbital flight within the next month or two. Like Glenn he was to have circled the earth three times in a Mercury capsule.

Carpenter, 36, a Navy flier, was Glenn's backup pilot last Feb. 20. He, in turn, will be backed up by astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr., 38, who was to have filled the same role for Slayton.

While Slayton was disqualified from the next U.S. space flight, a space agency spokesman said he was "still a member of the Mercury program at this time." Further study of his condition will determine whether or not he will continue in it, the spokesman said.

After hearing that he had been

'Dream' Trip To Be Real For Carpenter

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Malcolm Scott Carpenter, selected suddenly as America's next space pilot, has said often that the conquest of space is an adventure he's willing to give his life for.

The risks, he says, are far overshadowed by the challenge, the chance to be a pioneer in manned exploration of the universe.

Carpenter, 36, a Navy commander, was picked Thursday to ride the next Project Mercury capsule into orbit. His selection by Mercury officials followed disclosure that the designated pilot, Air Force Maj. Donald K. Slayton, has heart trouble.

Carpenter's flight is intended to be very similar to John H. Glenn Jr.'s three-times-around-the-world orbit on Feb. 20. It is scheduled for sometime in May. Carpenter was Glenn's backup pilot and worked closely with him for months.

This nation's next space pilot has dreamed often of traveling into the unknown void of space.

Nikita Says Soviets Launch New Satellite

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Khrushchev announced today the Soviet Union has put a new space vehicle in orbit. At the same time he threatened the United States with what he called a "global rocket," invulnerable to antimissile defenses.

The Soviet leader said all American efforts to intercept the new weapon, as he described it, would be in vain.

"The time has passed when the Americans can feel defended from the consequences of war," he said.

Khrushchev gave no details of what the stage of development the so-called new weapon might be.

He made his remarks in the course of an election rally, preliminary to Sunday's voting in the Soviet Union. Earlier at the rally he had announced orbiting of a new space vehicle. Tass news agency said it was "an artificial earth satellite launched with a view to continuing the Soviet program of outer space research."

Allied diplomats found the hard fact of Tsarapkin's statement discouraging, however. There had been a persistent hope among Western disarmament experts that the Soviet Union would modify its position on inspection.

The disarmament conference got down to business Thursday, following Wednesday's ceremonial opening, with Rusk and Gromyko outlining rival disarmament proposals.

Italian Foreign Minister Antonio Segni was scheduled to speak today.

Armada Searches Pacific For Missing U.S. Airliner

93 GI's, 14 Others On Board

MANILA (AP)—U.S. military planes and ships pressed a hunt between Guam and the Philippines tonight for a chartered airliner which vanished at sea with 107 persons, chiefly American Army men, on a flight to war-torn South Viet Nam.

A full 24 hours passed since the four-engine Super Constellation, owned by the California-based Flying Tiger Line, radioed its last message. This was a routine report to Guam from a position 270 miles west of that U.S. base in the western Pacific, as it headed for Clark Air Force Base, north of Manila.

House Passes Welfare Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has passed a $325-million welfare bill, including a $140-million boost in relief payments which was not sought by President Kennedy.

The bill makes a series of administration-sponsored changes in the federal-state welfare program. It passed the House Thursday on a 319-69 roll call vote. Before sending it to the Senate the House rejected, 231 to 156, a Republican-backed move to lop off the extra relief payments.

That provision would revise the federal-state formula for payments financing relief of aged, disabled and blind persons. The net effect would be an increase of about $4 monthly in the federal contribution. It would increase the top possible federal-state payment to $70 a month, at a total price tag of $140 million.

Leetonia Lets Contracts For Fire Station

LEETONIA — Contracts amounting to $34,022 for the construction of the new fire hall on E. Main St. were awarded at a special meeting of Village Council last night.

Edward S. Susany of Petersburg was awarded contracts for general construction at a bid of $29,125; electric, $1,850, and heating, $1,800, for a total of $32,775.

The contract for plumbing was given to the Ellyson Plumbing Company of Salem on a bid of $1,247.

Funds for construction of the new station were obtained when voters last November approved a $53,000 bond issue which also is to include new equipment.

The lowest bids received exceeded the architect's estimate of $25,000 by $9,022. Agreement was reached between the contractors and council that substitutions would be made where feasible and trimmings eliminated, such as stone around the door openings, to reduce the cost.

The village will also provide some of the labor and members of the volunteer fire department

Country's Brokerage Firms Undergoing Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Securities and Exchange Commission announced today it is quizzing all of the nation's 5,750 brokerage firms about dealings in 200 stocks.

The mammoth inquiry—part of a larger study of the entire securities industry—will yield the first detailed picture of exactly what goes on in the over-the-counter market. It is in this loosely organized market that brokers and investors trade in securities outside the regular stock exchanges.

Milton H. Cohen, director of the SEC's industry study, said a special questionnaire is being mailed to all brokerage houses "to obtain general information about the growth and size of the over-the-counter market and specific data as to transactions in that market." The completed questionnaires must be returned by April 9.

The SEC hopes, through an analysis of the questionnaires, to find out how many shares and how much money change hands in the market and how many brokers participate.

It also wants to know if it takes a large volume of trading to produce noteworthy price changes, and if brokers are overcharging customers on over-the-counter trades.

These trades are negotiated between the buyer and the seller—usually with brokers acting as their agents. In many cases, brokers help to make the market by buying and selling securities for their own account.

The questionnaires note that it is a criminal offense to submit false information to a federal government agency.

They go on to ask for a list of every over-the-counter trade in 115 active stocks on a single day—last Jan. 18. Brokers must disclose prices, commissions and markups. They need not identify individual customers involved.

The 115 stocks include many prominent issues, among them American Airlines, Anheuser-Busch, Bank of America, General Telephone & Electronics, Hartford Fire Insurance, Lockheed Aircraft, Pacific Power & Light, Pocket Books, Royal Dutch Petroleum and Wisconsin Power & Light.

The SEC said stocks were chosen "on a random sampling basis and their selection in no way implies any question about the particular securities" or trading in them.

They Walked With Christ

MATTHEW

"And as Jesus passed forth from thence, he saw a man, named Matthew, sitting at the receipt of custom: and he saith unto him, Follow me. . ."

—Matthew IX:9

Matthew, originally called Levi, was a native of Galilee, but Scripture does not say of which city, nor of which tribe of Israel.

Although a Jew, he apparently enjoyed the confidence of the Romans, whom he served as a publican or tax collector. His job was that of collecting custom duties and fees from persons and commodities that passed over the Sea of Galilee, or along the portion of the Damascus road that skirted it.

After Jesus called him to be an apostle, Matthew, who was evidently a man of means, gave a feast at his home. In addition to Jesus, who was probably guest of honor, he invited others of the disciples as well as several publicans and friends.

His idea in giving such a banquet would appear to be twofold: to mark the end of one way of life and the beginning of a new way as a disciple of Jesus; and to give his former companions an opportunity to know something of the new Gospel that had changed his life.

Matthew's personal stature grows when seen in the perspective of his personal life and environment prior to his meeting Jesus: a man of education and wealth, the handler of money—that symbol of materialism and worldly greed—he had only to be bidden, "Follow me," and he turned his back resolutely and finally upon the past.

After the Ascension, Matthew remained in Jerusalem with the other Apostles. On the day of Pentecost, according to the Scriptural account, he received the gift of the Holy Spirit.

Christians are greatly indebted to Matthew for his version of the Gospel, in which he carefully preserved the words and parables of Jesus.

The Bible does not tell how long Matthew remained in Judea after the Ascension, but a fifth-century church historian relates that he was martyred in Ethiopia, where he had gone as a Christian missionary.

Rotate Potato Crops

Rotating potatoes with other vegetable crops seems the most practical means for beating the problem of potato scab.

New research at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station shows that potatoes in a 4-year rotation are almost 95 percent free of any scab infection. But with continuous planting on the same ground, almost 99 percent show serious infection by the fourth year. The problem is especially serious in the highly organic muck soils.

Research Plant Pathologist J. D. Wilson, who has headed up an experimental program on plots at the Muck Crops Substation at Celeryville, says control by rotation has proved more practical than testing the soil with chemicals. Six types of vegetables including carrots, celery, potatoes, onion, lettuce and radishes are being grown in various rotation sequences.

Comparatively little potato scab showed up during the first two years of continuous potatoes, Wilson says. But by the third year, 40 percent of the tubers showed one or more scab lesions. Where carrots and potatoes were alternated in a 2-year rotation, only about 20 percent of the tubers showed the disease. The same was true where celery was used in the 2-year rotation.

When the rotation was increased to three years with celery and radishes being grown in the second and third years, only slightly more than 6 percent of the potato crop showed any infection. Least potato scab occurred when potatoes were planted in a 4-year rotation with corn, onions, and soybeans being the rotating crops.

Wilson reports that potato scab is common throughout Ohio's potato growing areas. It is especially serious on limed soils where the pH value is 6.0 or above, the pH rating being a measure of how acid or alkaline a soil may be. A lower pH reading means that a soil is more acid, as opposed to neutral or alkaline.

Also, Wilson says most of the effective chemical compounds re-

Key to the Cash Drawer

On 14 occasions since 1949, Congress has tried to make the White House spend more money than it wanted to spend for national defense. This year again it has locked horns over this curious issue.

The amount involved this year is $491 million for a new airplane that the Kennedy administration would be ordered to spend if the unanimous will of the House Armed Services Committee is followed, against only $180 million requested by the Department of Defense. Involved in the long run would be as much as $10 billion added to more than a billion already spent on the plane's development.

The Kennedy Administration thinks the plane is impractical.

Despite the size of these sums, however, the plane is not the issue. It is only the question on which a larger issue has been brought to a showdown.

THE LARGER ISSUE is whether Congress can force the executive department to spend money it has not requested. As the chairman of the House Armed Services Committee has stated it, the issue is whether Congress has become a "querulous but essentially kindly uncle who complains while furiously puffing on his pipe but who finally, as everyone expects, gives in and hands over the allowance."

Or, stated more accurately than Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., stated it, the issue is whether a spendthrift uncle can force his spendthrift nephew to spend more money than the spendthrift nephew wants to spend.

The nephew is Defense Secretary McNamara and the uncle is Rep. Vinson, who has decided the time has come to assert his authority over a strong-willed man who in turn has been asserting his authority over traditional friends of the military, including Rep. Vinson. Among these are friends of the National Guard, the Reserves and the many military installations closed up and closed out since Mr. McNamara took charge of the Defense Department.

The total amount saved since 1949 by executive refusal to spend as much as Congress appropriated is $1,356,000,000—a substantial sum. No one can estimate how much more might have been saved if the Truman, Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations had not been pressured into spending more than they knew they needed.

THIS IS PART of the hazard that President Eisenhower described in his "farewell warning" to his countrymen in January 1961. He said pressure by a "military-industrial complex" might be more than future administrations could cope with.

The pressure is exerted chiefly against members of Congress, who think of multi-million-dollar military contracts in their districts as political insurance. In the current issue between Rep. Vinson and Secretary McNamara the pressure is combined with the perennial contest of power between the legislative and executive branches of the federal government.

If Rep. Vinson could establish the authority of Congress to make the administration carry out its wishes down to the spending of the last penny of appropriations, a few billion dollars would not be too much for him to pay. Taxpayers would foot the bill, as they always do when public officials bicker over public power.

Rep. Vinson is sincere; no one questions his intentions.

But when it was time for election again, legislators would point accusing fingers at the administration that had spent "too much money." Scarcely anyone would take the time to inquire about all the politicians running in district and state contests who had appropriated too much money and established a rule that all money appropriated must be spent.

Arthur H. Compton

It had been evident for many years that Elias Compton and Otelia Augspurger started a remarkable family in Wooster. Recognition was given this fact officially in 1944 when Mrs. Compton was given an honorary degree by the College of Wooster for being the mother of 'America's first family of learning.'

The death this week of Arthur H. Compton in Berkeley, Calif., where he had gone to lecture at the University of California as professor-at-large, is another reminder of the Compton family's extraordinary nature. Dr. Compton called himself a physicist, like his oldest brother, Karl T. Compton. But he was first of all an intellectual, as were all the Compton brothers. Another brother, Wilson M. Compton, chose to call himself an economist and executive.

What was their secret? What did their father, a college president himself, and their mother, a woman of fine mind, give their children that caused them to be intellectually outstanding. Surely it was more than their intellectual potentiality; millions who have potentially fail to realize any important part of the potentiality.

The secret, of course, was incentive. Elias and Otelia Compton knew how to make it unthinkable for their children to waste their mental potentiality. Not everybody in this world can be as brilliant as the Comptons, but if everybody were as brilliant as it was possible to be with the mentality bestowed on him by his heritage the world could be transformed. Every college could have families like the Comptons. Many colleges do have such families.

The College of Wooster and the community of Wooster have taken great pride in the Comptons. Could there be anything more heartening than to know that another family just as distinguished can join the Comptons whenever parents strike the same spark of incentive in similarly alert minds?

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

LINCOLN, NEB. I've now made good a promise I made in Berlin the night the Vopos strung up the barbed wire. I told some Berliners I'd tell their story in 50 American cities — and I just have hit the 50th — in Wahoo.

But there is a story in this corner of a quadrangle of intercontinental ballistic missile bases which the Berliners in turn should now know. Some of our workmen have just not understood the nature of the "Wall" and the haste needed to get its master builders under direct aim of our missiles.

With this as prelude I'd like to tell the story of the firing of 17 workmen here the other day. It meant their bread and butter. But they got no sympathy from anyone. Nor from their union chiefs either.

The discharged men were part of a large group of skilled workers who developed headaches and morning sickness every time something displeased them.

They they'd simply go home for the day — though this meant agonizing delays in the construction of Atlas ICBM silos at the Lincoln Air Force Base here.

THERE WAS the day when 12 vitally needed pipefitters pulled a quickie strike because they didn't like the foreman who gave orders. The men argued that he was the first shift foreman, and they were second shift men. Therefore they would not obey. Home they went. There was the day 39 ironworkers walked off because a foreman they liked and the company did not was fired. Home went the men.

Then one day 20 iron workers quit with headaches when told their day would be cut from 10 hours to eight. This meant a loss of two overtime hours. Soon they were homeward bound.

Ten days were lost when 18 pipefitters became ill upon learning that members of another union, the machinists, were going to work on the base. Ten days were lost.

Seven highly skilled and highly needed electricians later caught the same disease as soon as they learned of the incoming machinists.

THERE WAS the morning 19 pipefitters just did not show up on Saturday—an overtime day. They were simply overcome by the news that only those who had worked less than 60 hours that week would be used. They just couldn't bear working without all their comrades. They sent word that everybody would work at premium pay or none would work at all. Nobody worked.

There were days when pipefitters quit because they simply did not like their work assignments on the control system.

Finally topside got mad. Word got to Washington and the President's Missile Sites Labor Commission directed by Julius Kuczma. They sponsored a series of conferences in Omaha.

Everybody conferred: union leaders, company people, (General Dynamics and Ferguson-Smith Construction Co.); the commission representative, the Air Force, etc. On Feb. 6th, they signed a letter of understanding. In effect, it was decided that there would be no more nonsense.

Then, on Feb. 16, Ferguson-Smith management announced that only the first shift was needed the next day — Saturday.

THIS CALL went out to the iron workers. Then the first shift men were contacted by the second shift union brothers. Said the second shift to the first: Don't work if they don't call us in.

Saturday came. So did the 13 ironworkers of the first shift and four of the second. The four convinced the 13 to get sick and go home when the second shift was told it could not work.

On Feb. 19 there was another conference of all forces including iron workers union leaders. The 17 men were fired and paid off. Why? Because it was agreed that any members leaving their jobs or refusing to work without prior permission of union officials will be considered to have quit. The 17 technicians were replaced by the union.

The company issued actual blank checks to their foremen on the sites. Any worker pulling a quickie strike could be paid off right then and there so he could hit the road.

There would be no more nonsense. There cannot be. Wahoo is not as far from the "Wall" as it seems. Nor is any other precious part of America.

If this spirit spreads to other missile sites there will be fewer headaches — for everybody on and off the bases.

Presidential Powers

Can JFK Ignore Direction Made By Congress?

Widespread indifference to the Constitution can develop if our highest officials are inclined to by-pass various provisions of the document itself. When, therefore, President Kennedy indicates that, although Congress may appropriate $320 million for B-70 bombers, he doesn't intend to have such planes made anyway, a sharp question arises. Can a president of the United States ignore a specific direction enacted into law by Congress that he spend money for a given purpose?

Chairman Carl Vinson of the House Armed Services Committee disputes the president's supposed right to refuse to provide the armament which Congress "directs" him to provide.

What does the Constitution itself say about all this? It says: "Congress shall have power. . . . To declare war. . . . To raise and support armies, but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer term than two years. . . . To provide and maintain a navy. . . . To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces. . . . To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrections and repel invasions. . . . To provide for organizing, arming, and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, deserving to the states respectively the appointment of the officers, and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by Congress. . . . To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers. . . ."

What powers over the armed services does the Constitution specifically give to the president? In only one sentence is there any mention of the presidential power over the armed services. This reads as follows: "The president of the United States shall be commander in chief of the Army and Navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several states, when called into the actual service of the United States."

PLAINLY, a president can issue orders as to where and how the military services shall fight but the obligation to provide the necessary forces and equipment is vested wholly in the Congress, which appropriates the funds.

It is the function of Congress, moreover, to use its own judgment as to the size of the forces and how much equipment is needed, and to decide finally what kind of equipment shall be furnished.

Whenever I think of the First Ladies of my lifetime and look at Jacqueline Kennedy's picture in that "little girl" outfit she wore in Delhi, I am incredulous. Youth must be served but did Mrs. Kennedy have to choose a hat that made her look like her own half-grown daughter?

My howler of the week is about earthlings watching mass production of dwellers on Venus — an assembly-line process. The earthlings explained how the job was done on earth and the Venusians broke out laughing. "That's the way we make automobiles here," they tittered.

If you haven't realized yet what blocks disarmament, don't miss the significance of a United Nations report by economists heartily assuring skeptics in all countries concerned that a sudden cutoff of weapons production could be survived with a little intelligence.

Like all patriots I thrilled to the announcement that the United States would resume testing in the atmosphere to show the blanket Russians a thing or two. Then I fell to wondering if we had anything that needed testing, or whether we were just showing

Executives of the departments dealing with the armed services can submit advice and recommendations, but Congress, though the lawmaking process, is the final judge of what shall be given to the military agencies.

The president, of course, can veto a bill, but two thirds of both houses can enact it into law, anyway. It has been argued that Congress cannot "direct" the president to perform certain acts.

It has been stated during the present controversy that Presidents Truman and Eisenhower ignored specific provisions of appropriation laws dealing with military equipment but two wrongs do not make a right.

This correspondent was opposed to the appropriation of an extra $648 million being considered for the U.S. Air Force in 1949. When Congress, however, enacted it into law and Mr. Truman announced he would disregard the wishes of Congress, the following paragraphs appeared in these dispatches on Oct. 31, 1949:

"A precedent of far-reaching importance is involved in Mr. Truman's announcement that, although he signed the military appropriation bill which provides funds for a 58-group Air Force, he will not spend the extra $648 million and will allow only a 48-group Air Force. . . ."

"The Congress made a mistake in voting for a 58 instead of a 48-group Air Force, but the law is on the statute books and if the President didn't like it he should have made clear that he would veto the bill and Congress would have had the choice of overriding the veto or amending the bill to meet the President's wishes."

"Rightly or wrongly, Congress wants a 58 group Air Force, and it is the duty of the President to give Congress what it voted."

THE BASIS ISSUE remains the same today. Can a president of the United States arbitrarily decide for himself which laws passed by Congress he will enforce and which ones he will disregard? If so, what becomes of the presidential oath, spelled out in the convention itself: "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States?"

The Constitution also specifically declares, as one of the duties of a president, that "he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed."

Supposing a president deliberately ignores the wishes or directions of Congress, what can be done about it? There is only one course open, namely, impeachment for "misdemeanors." Would a refusal "to faithfully execute" a law passed by Congress be a "misdemeanor"? One definition of "misdemeanor" is "misconduct." Certainly refusal by a president to "execute" a law would be a breach of faith with the Congress.

Like all patriots I thrilled to the announcement that the United States would resume testing in the atmosphere to show the blanket Russians a thing or two. Then I fell to wondering if we had anything that needed testing, or whether we were just showing the blanket Russians they couldn't keep us out from polluting the atmosphere we share with them and the rest of mankind.

This is a preposterous idea, but if we'd refrain bad auto drivers we could save billions on street and highway changes. If more drivers knew what they were doing we could get along very nicely with most of the streets and highways we now possess.

People who tell bus companies how to woo back more passengers might as well be telling blacksmiths the way to get more business is to reduce the price for shoeing horses. The whole point is that the private automobile made bus-riding optional instead of mandatory; cost is not the key to reduced use of public transportation.

I expect to make disagreeable use of the two-part remark that patriotism is the last refuge of scoundrels, as Samuel Johnson said I was, and if he were alive today he would say that anti-communism also is a favorite last refuge.

I am secretly working on a gesture in case I do something notable and must appear before masses of my countrymen. Col. Glenn made a hit with the thumbs-up bit, and I'm counting on a downward gesture across the belt — the one that means in all languages, "Go away!"

Ann Landers

very little (or no) communication between you two for a long time—if ever.

Woman Pays

Dear Ann: Our daughter is about to be married. My husband and I are willing to assume the financial responsibilities of the wedding breakfast, the reception, the music, the cake and so on. The groom's parents say we also must pay for the flowers and the clergyman.

I know the groom's family should pay for SOMETHING but I don't know exactly what. It hardly seems fair that the financial burden should fall entirely on the parents of the bride.

What is the groom's family supposed to provide besides the groom?—POORHOUSE. HERE WE COME.

Dear Poorhouse: Darned little. But cheer up—in the old days the bride's family not only had to pay for almost everything but they also had to present the groom with a dowry (sort of a gift for taking the girl off their hands).

Any store that sells bridal gowns or rents wedding suits will give you a booklet which explains exactly who pays for what.

Dear Ann Landers: Our daughter is 17 and utterly impossible. She loves obscene language, dresses like a beatnik, lies constantly and shows open contempt for everything we stand for.

She wants too much too soon. To her, virtue is old fashioned. She hasn't uttered a civilized word to a member of this family in years. She's been at war with all of us for as long as I can remember.

Don't ask me how she got this way. We've given her love, understanding and plenty of attention. We've tried to give her worthwhile goals and set a good example. I'm beginning to believe in the Bad Seed theory.

This girl was reared just as our other children were. They developed into mature, responsible adults and we're proud of them.

Is it possible that she had a bad strain in her?—N.J.

Dear N.J.: Physical deformities and weaknesses can be inherited but your daughter was not born a liar or a beatnik.

No two children are reared "exactly the same." Whether a child is the eldest, the youngest or the one in the middle can have a strong effect on his personality.

You need outside help with your daughter and I hope you get it soon. There has been

Anniversary Dinner Held By Damascus Girl Scouts

DAMASCUS — The 50th anniversary of Girl Scouting was observed by leaders, members and parents of the Damascus vicinity at West Branch High School Tuesday evening, with a caserole supper.

Two hundred were in attendance. The theme was "Honor the Past, Serve the Future."

Girls serving were former Scouts, Louisa Hanna, Diana Broomall, Jean Baker, Bette Morrow, Vicki Tetlow, Charlene Duriga, Ada May Hanna and Eileen Conkle.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Joe Celin.

The welcome was given by Mrs. Joseph Bush, vice president of the Girl Scout Council, and the flag ceremony was presented by Brownie Troop 4. A talk, "Scouting and Past Workers," was given by Karen Kerr, first girl scout in Damascus to receive the curved bar award. Investiture was presented by Brownie Troop 5.

Awards in the poster contest in Brownie Troops were presented Elaine Carner - first; Linda Swallow - second; Paula Buttermore - third and Joyce Herold fourth.

Awards in the Poster Contest for Girl Scout Troops were Donna Manypenny - first; Leona Farkas - second; Sheryl Summers - third and Susan Early fourth.

Certificates were received by Mrs. Frank Easton and Mrs. Philip Bush for ten years service; by Mrs. Orville Blythe and Mrs. Charles Duriga, seven years service; and Mrs. J. Fred Jose, five years service.

A song was sung by Brownie Troop 7; badges were presented Girl Scout Troop 3; and Girl Scout 6 gave the Girl Scout laws.

A highlight of the evening was Magic presented by Herb Niland of East Palestine.

Mrs. Harold Brown displayed a board with snapshots, clippings and Craft of Girl Scout events over the years.

Five Rogers Groups To Hold Meetings

GOP Women Arrange Candidates Meeting

Republican Women's Club of Salem will hold the first of its candidates meetings Monday at 7:45 p.m. at the Masonic Temple. Twelve candidates of both state and county will be present to address the members.

All women are urged to attend the meeting and meet the candidates. The second meeting will be April 16 at the same time and place.

ANSWER FIRE CALLS

Salem firemen answered two calls Thursday.

Sparks from a cigaret set fire to a davenport at a residence of Mrs. Helen Williams, 243 W. 2nd St., at 1:47 p.m., Acting Chief Elmer Bush reported. Damage was confined to the davenport.

Soot burning in a chimney caused a fire scare at the home of James Semple, 438 Vine Ave., at 6:40 a.m.

Council Convenes At Summitville

SUMMITVILLE — Mayor Ernest Phillips, appointed Dominic Sabatino, William Swinger and Everett Hayes, former councilman, to take charge of the basketball and tennis courts for the year when Council met Thursday evening at the home of the clerk, Mrs. Marjorie Roberts.

Bills totaling $130 was paid. Council agreed to continue the street resurfacing program this summer. The problem of surface water at the corner of Spruce and 3rd St. will be corrected as soon as weather permits. A broken storm sewer at the corner of Depot St. and Nittany Drive will be replaced.

Attending the meeting were Mayor Phillips, Mrs. Roberts, clerk Mrs. Evelyn Rogers, treasurer: Sabatino, Clair Fraser, Howard Steirs, Dean Dowdell, Raymond Arsuiff, Swinger and deputy marshal, Forrest Young.

Carpenter

"Riding the centrifuge," Carpenter says, "I imagine sometimes that I'm not in the flight simulator at all, but in the very capsule itself."

"There can be no substitute, though, for the thrilling reality of the moment when the astronaut realizes he's finally in a good orbit. It will be a moment when he can start to appreciate some new and wonderful sensations."

With four children, the handsome, Colorado-born Carpenter has the largest family of the astronaut team. The children are Mark Scott, 12; Robyn Jay, 8; Kristine Elaine, 6; and Candace Noxon, 5. A fifth child died in 1951 at the age of 6 months.

Carpenter's attractive wife, Rene shares his space role intimately. When they are separated for long periods by rigorous training program, they write long letters. He tells in detail of the progress of Project Mercury and Rene says he once sent her 17 pages.

Both are natives of Boulder, Colo., where Carpenter was born May 1, 1925.

He began his flying career in 1943 in the Navy's V5 training program at Colorado College. After World War II, he entered the University of Colorado and in 1949 received a degree in aeronautical engineering.

After graduation he joined the Navy and became an airborne electronics expert. During the Korean War he was involved in anti-submarine patrol, shipping surveillance and aerial mining in the Yellow and South China seas and in the Formosa Straits.

He graduated from the Navy test pilot school in 1954 and began the hazardous testing task which qualified him as a Project Mercury astronaut.

Carpenter spends as much of his free time as possible with his family at their home at Langley Air Force Base, Va., home of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's manned space flight center. He enjoys archery, skin-diving and skiing. He is an Episcopalian.

westward—to a point about midway between Guam and the Philippines—and then retraced their course eastward.

Fuel For Nine Hours

The plane took off from Guam at 8:57 p.m. Thursday night carrying fuel for about nine hours flying for the 1,600-mile, eight-hour hop to Clark Air Force Base, north of Manila. It was last heard from 80 minutes later when the pilot sent a routine radio message to Guam from about 270 miles west of that American island base.

The Clark Field Rescue Coordinating Center declared the airliner missing this morning. A U.S. Navy spokesman said it was believed the plane went down closer to Guam than to the Philippines.

U.S. bases in the Western Pacific marshaled a task force of surface ships and Air Force, Navy, Marine and Coast Guard planes.

Seven Ships Dispatched

Seven ships led by the destroyer escort Brister and 15 aircraft were dispatched from Guam, Clark Field, the U.S. 7th Fleet and the Air Force at Okinawa sent additional planes.

The searchers scoured an ocean area stretching 750 miles west of Guam and 100 miles wide along the plane's scheduled route. Cloudless skies and calm seas were reported in their search area.

The airliner, piloted by Capt. Gregory P. Thomas of Red Bank, N.J., left Travis base in northern California Tuesday. Travis is often the originating point for troops being ferried across the Pacific by plane. Flying Tiger is often the carrier. Guam is a regular refueling stop.

Geneva

the 17-nation group met at the call of India's V. K. Krishna Menon and discussed the developing situation. Menon was reported planning a middleman effort to pull the rival Rusk and Gromyko plans together into a single, generally acceptable compromise plan for arms cuts.

To most Western diplomats, the U.S. and Soviet approaches to disarmament appeared too far apart to produce a mutually acceptable compromise.

Gromyko called for total, worldwide disarmament in four years from the date of signing a treaty. He said the program should proceed by stages. Destroyed arms would be inspected, but not the arms and forces retained by each nation. Once general and complete disarmament had been achieved, then the Soviet Union would be wide open to inspection.

Gromyko said that when all armies were destroyed the United Nations should keep the peace. But Western leaders understand the Soviet Union's position is that the United Nations would not have its own army but only the authority to call up contingents from each nation—and the U.N. force would be subject to the big power veto.

Rusk's plan also called for general and complete disarmament, but instead of a final target date it proposed short-range goals for partial arms cuts which U.S. officials insisted were realistic. Rusk called for an initial 30 per cent cutback in conventional weapons and in nuclear bomb carriers such as rockets over a three year period.

He also proposed measures to end the nuclear arms race, transfer of 50,000 kilograms (55 tons) each of Soviet and U.S. nuclear explosives to peaceful purposes and other steps to build East-West confidence while reducing the danger of nuclear war by accident, miscalculation or surprise attack.

U.S. officials indicated their inspection proposals were flexible and negotiable but the Soviets showed no interest.

SENTENCED TO JAIL

LISBON—Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin sentenced George Ward Jr., 22, Sebring, to four months in the county jail for contributing to the delinquency of a 17-year-old Salem girl. Judge Tobin sentenced him to a year but suspended eight months of sentence providing he doesn't associate with the girl after he gets out of jail.

U.S. To Beam Powerful Red Light at Moon

WASHINGTON (AP) — American scientists are planning soon to beam a powerful red light at the moon, hoping it will be reflected back to earth.

Although theoretically the beam would be strong enough to be visible for 20 million miles, the scientists say little of the experiment will actually be seen.

People living near the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor—where the experiment will be conducted—may see the beam as a spectacular red needle in the sky. But they will have to look sharp, for the light will dart out in pulses of a fraction of a second.

The hope is, said physicist Peter A. Franken of the university staff, that some of the beam can be bounced off one of the moon's highly reflective craters—making a round trip between the earth and moon in 2½ seconds.

All this, he said in a report prepared for the Optical Society of America, amplified at a news conference, will be part of an experiment to explore further possible uses of devices called "Lasers."

"Laser" stands for "light amplification by stimulated emission of radiation." It is an experimental instrument to amplify and sharpen relatively weak waves of light to produce a very narrow, powerful beam.

Franken said the Michigan tests are scheduled to begin in a week or so.

KIWANIS KAPERS

Tuesday, March 20 and Wednesday, March 21

Your education has been neglected if you have never seen the Kapers.

CHORUS LINE—All male, including hairy legs, dimpled and cherub knees and pot bellies here and there. Costumes you will never forget.

DANCE GROUP—How did they learn? Top secret, wives, don't let the old man stall you off with, "I haven't got time." Get him busy on those odd jobs around the house. If he can dance that well, why not?

SINGING GROUP—The best male chorus available. You long hairs will never hear South Pacific tunes sung as these boys sing them. There will be a number of talent scouts spotted in strategic spots about the crowd. Bring your ball point pen for signing contracts after the show.

FUN NIGHT—Never before will you see these tired (?) business men perform for 2 hours for just $1.00 general admission. The Patrons listed on the back of this program paid $2.50 each to see the same show you only paid a dollar to see. The center block of seats was reserved for them.

CLEAN JOKES—All have been sterilized, dry cleaned and fumigated. No one is going to get red in the face when you tell them. None are copyrighted, you may use them if they tickle your funny-bone.

THE TALENT—works free, and buys a pair of patron tickets, so the wives can see just how good their husbands are (?). You take it from there.

TICKETS—No kidding, they are going like hot cakes on a cold morning. If you call immediately, ED 7-7273, we will bring them out to you, and have your change ready. We have a lot to do yet. Call 7-7273 NOW!

K of C Meet To Draw 7,500

Thomas Expected To Set Jump Mark

By LARRY FRIEDMAN
CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—John Thomas, America's greatest high jumper, said he has no certain height in mind for tonight's 22nd annual Knights of Columbus track meet except to jump as high as he possibly can.

He said his first aim is to win in the final meet of the indoor season. "If I can do that," he added, "then I might start thinking about records."

Most observers figure Thomas, 20, of Boston University, can snap the meet record of 6 feet, 9 1/2 inches. He injured his ankle early in the winter, but said he was in good shape after a rugged conditioning program.

Although Thomas is the main attraction for the expected crowd of 7,500 at the Cleveland Arena, there are several other high spots on the program.

The 1,000-yard run, for example, features Bill Crothers, the University of Toronto star who has run under the accepted world record, against George Kerr of Illinois and John Bork, 1961 NCAA champion from Western Michigan.

The mile pits Tom O'Hara of Loyola of Chicago, the defending champ, against Villanova freshman ace Tom Sullivan and Pete Close of the Marines. O'Hara and Sullivan both have run faster than Wes Santee's meet mark of 4:04.6. O'Hara owns a 4:01.6 clocking.

Dave Mills, the Big Ten champ from Purdue who is the world indoor recorder for the quarter mile, faces tough competition from Notre Dame's Bill Boyle and Jim Dupree in the 600-yard run.

Frank Budd of Villanova, who twice ran 6-flat for the 60 yards a week ago, is the favorite in the 50-yard dash and may wipe out the meet record of 5.2 seconds.

The pole vault features Henry Wadsworth, Rolando Cruz and Mel Schwartz, all aiming to go higher than Don Bragg's meet mark of 15 feet, 5 inches.

Fordham's two-mile relay team, anchored by swift Frank Tomeo, has announced it will make an all-out assault on the world indoor record of 7:32.8, lowered by two seconds a week ago by a Kansas foursome.

Bruce Kidd, 18, a Toronto freshman, is the standout in the two-file field.

NAIA Names Ridl Coach Of The Year

KANSAS CITY (AP) — C.G. (Buzz) Ridl of the Westminster (Pa.) College Titans, was named basketball coach of the year by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics today.

Ridl, whose team is ranked No. 1 in the nation by The Associated Press, was selected in a poll of the 460 basketball coaches in the NAIA. His team is a semifinalist in the NAIA tournament tonight.

Westminster won 22 games this season, including victories over major basketball schools Duquesne and Pittsburgh. The Titans lost only 2.

Wilt Credited With Setting Nine Records

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball Association officially recognized Wilt Chamberlain's record point production of 4,029 today and credited the most prolific scorer in league history with eight other marks.

Winning the individual scoring title for the third straight year, the 7-foot-1 star of Philadelphia became the first man in NBA records to enter the 4,000-point circle, set a record for scoring average with a 50.4 points a game and established these other standards:

Most field goals attempted (3,159); most field goals made (1,597); most free throws attempted (1,363); most free throws made (835); most minutes played (3,882); most games scoring 50 points (44); and most field goals missed in one season (528).

Two other league records were established. Walt Bellamy, rookie with the Chicago Packers who wound up second in the scoring race with 2,495 points and a 31.6 average, eclipsed Chamberlain's field goal percentage standard by hitting on .513 of his shots.

Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson was third in scoring with 2,432 points and a 30.8 average.

pare the field to eight teams and Saturday night's regional finals will cut the field to four for the national semifinals and final at Louisville, Ky. next week.

The lineup.

East Regional at College Park, Md:

Wake Forest (19-8) vs. St. Josephs (Pa.) (18-8)

Villanova (20-6) vs. NYU (19-14)

Midwest regional at Iowa City, Iowa

Kentucky (22-2) vs. Butler (21-5)

Ohio State (23-1) vs. Western Kentucky (17-8)

Midwest regionals at Manhattan, Kan.

Colorado (18-6) vs. Texas Tech (19-6)

Cincinnati (25-2) vs. Creighton (20-4)

West Regional at Provo, Utah

Oregon State (23-4) vs. Pepperdine (19-6)

UCLA (16-9) vs. Utah State (22-5).

The main interest will be on the games at Iowa City and Manhattan with the appearance of defending champion Cincinnati and top-ranked Ohio State, hopeful of getting another crack at Cincinnati in the national final at Louisville on March 24. Cincinnati stunned the Buckeyes with an overtime victory in last year's championship final.

The Buckeyes, with player-of-the-year Jerry Lucas, playing in his last NCAA tourney, and the Bearcats are favored over Western Kentucky and Creighton, respectively.

In the other games Kentucky, with soph sensation Cotton Nash, is favored over Butler, Colorado over Texas Tech, Oregon State over Pepperdine, UCLA over Utah State, St. Joseph's over Wake Forest and Villanova over NYU.

Three other post-season tournaments are in full swing. The National Invitational opened Thursday night at New York's Madison Square Garden with Temple ousting Providence, the defending champion, (80-78) in overtime, a Dayton whipping Wichita 79-71.

In the NCAA small college tourney at Evansville, Ind., Wittenberg, the defending champion, was eliminated in the quarterfinals by Mt. St. Mary's 43-39.

Westminster (Pa.) and Prairie View (Tex.), the one, two seeded teams, won in the NAIA tourney at Kansas City in the quarterfinals. Westminster defeated Orange (Calif.) State 63-55, Prairie View downed Arizona State College 86-48, Western Illinois took Carson Newman 91-65 and Southeastern Oklahoma drubbed Ferris 69-49.

In tonight's NCAA semifinals at Evansville it's Mt. St. Mary's vs. Southern Illinois and Nebraska Wesleyan vs. Sacramento State. In the NAIA round of four at Kansas City, it's Westminster v's. Southeastern Oklahoma and Western Illinois vs. Prairie View.

Franklin Market, P.O. Tied For 2nd Place In Volleyball

Post Office and Franklin Market teams wound up tied for second place in the Adult Volleyball league second round and Seaveen dropped further back to third place after action Thursday night on the Memorial Building court.

The Post Office team climbed into the second spot with three wins of 16-14, 15-8 and 15-5 over P.A.'s, while Franklin slipped in one game with Seaveen 15-11, after winning the other two, 14-9 and 15-2.

In other action last night, Bayless Gas forfeited its three-game series to Plungers.

Electric Furnace Experimental leads second round play with a 19-2 mark, with Post Office and Franklin Market tied for second at 21-2, and Seaveen next at 19-5. Only other team over the .500 percentage mark in games is Salem Music Centre with a 17-10 record.

Miami — Sammy Burgess, 135, Miami Beach, outpointed Joe 138, San Diego, outpointed Gar-Merchison, 139, Jacksonville, 8.

Semi-finals in seven regional tournaments are on tap, and 14 teams must get out of the way in the race for the state championships. Heading into Saturday's eight regional finals will be eight Class AA and eight Class A quintets—survivors of 500 small and 433 big schools.

At this stage, regardless of records, anything can happen. And the records range all the way from Newark's 14-10 to Mansfield St. Peter's 25-0 in Class AA, and from Hudson's 15-8 to defending champion Ayersville's 25-0 in Class A.

After tonight's frays, any team which can put together a three-game winning streak is certain of the state championship—but it must manufacture that streak against the hottest teams in Buckeye land.

Only two former champions are left in each class. Newark, winner in 1936, 1938 and 1943, and Cleveland East Tech, the 1958 and 1959 champion, are the ex-rulers in Class AA. In Class A Miller City (1950) and Ayersville (1957 and 1961) are the former kings. Ayersville, bidding to become the first Class A team to win the laurels three times, is in the same Lima Regional with Miller City—so one or both could be ousted before next week's state finals here.

Ayersville winner of 30 straight to take the Class A championship a year ago, has run its winning streak to 55. But Portsmouth's Trojans, the 1961 Class AA victors, made a complete flip-

Cubs, Red Sox, Athletics Win

Yankees Defeat Reds 8-3; White Sox Trip Tigers 4-3

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
The New York Yankees have stretched their winning streak to four over Cincinnati by beating the National League pennant-winners in their first meeting since the 1961 World Series.

Mickey Mantle provided an early lead with a three-run homer in the first inning as the Yanks boosted their unbeaten streak to six games Thursday with an 8-3 victory over the inept Reds at Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

It was the world champion Yankees' first victory over National League competition and maintained the only unblemished record in the exhibition standings while pushing the Reds into sole possession of 10th place among senior circuit clubs with a 1-3 mark.

The Yanks collected nine hits. Bud Daley, Rolfe Sheldon and former Red Marshall Bridges checked Cincinnati on six hits.

The Chicago White Sox remained right behind the Yankees in the AL standings, winning their third straight for a 5-1 record by whipping the Detroit Tigers 4-3 in 10 innings at Sarasota, Fla. In other games, Boston edged San Francisco 7-6 in 11 innings at Phoenix, Washington walloped the Los Angeles Dodgers 9-4 at Pompano Beach, Kansas City whipped Minnesota 7-3 at West Palm Beach, Chicago's Cubs defeated the Los Angeles Angels 7-31 at Mesa and Houston beat Cleveland 4-2 at Apache Junction.

The New York Mets-Pittsburgh and Philadelphia-Milwaukee tilts were canceled due to rain. Baltimore and St. Louis were not scheduled.

Al Smith's third hit, a double leading off the 10th, led to the White Sox' winning run when Joe Cunningham singled him home.

Rookies Larry Wiecek and Bob Tillman hit three-run pinch-hit homers in the ninth as the Red Sox tied it and went on to beat the Giants in the 11th when Eddie Dick Holden wild pitched rookie Dick Bressoud home.

The Senators continued their long-distance clouting with Dale Long hitting two homers and Joe Hicks one against the Dodgers, who retaliated with Tommy Davis' third in three days and one by pitcher Larry Sherry. The A's struck for five runs in the second—three on a Manny Jimenez homer—as they handed the winless Twins their sixth defeat.

Home runs by Bob Will and Ken Hubbs carried the Cubs to their triumph over the Angels.

The Colts, outthrew 7-4 by the Indians, were able to score three times in the sixth for win No. 2.

Browns' Plans For Twin Bill Raises Dispute

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle and Arthur Modell, chairman of the board of the Cleveland Browns, disagree with the president of the Philadelphia Eagles that an exhibition NFL doubleheader cheapens pro football.

Modell also was annoyed Thursday by remarks by Eagles' end Pete Retzlaff, the president of the NFL Players Association, criticizing the twin-bill scheduled for Cleveland Aug. 18.

Frank McNamee, president of the Eagles, said he turned down a Cleveland invitation to participate in the doubleheader. He said he protested the doubleheader — featuring Cleveland against Pittsburgh and Detroit against Dallas — to Rozelle. He told Rozelle the stunt cheapened the sport.

Rozelle said he didn't feel the two games would develop a trend. "It should be an interesting experiment," said the commissioner. "It's only a one-shot job and I agree with the Browns it won't cheapen the league."

Retzlaff said: "I can't see much sense in jeopardizing a $3 million investment. And I see less sense in taking a first class product off the top shelf and putting it in a cut-rate basement."

In Cleveland Modell said, "This doubleheader is purely an experiment and the ones that will decide whether it cheapens or enhances the sport will be the general public."

"If I thought this would cheapen the sport in any way whatsoever I would want no part of it."

S. Carolina Coach to Be Banquet Speaker

Head Basketball Coach Bob Stevens of the University of South Carolina, voted just recently as Atlantic Coast Conference "Coach of the Year," will be featured speaker at the Salem Booster Club's annual basketball banquet April 7 in the Elks Home, it was announced today by Clair Leeper, Boosters president.

Tickets for the banquet, which will honor all Salem High School varsity and reserve cage players, are now on sale at Heddleston's Drug Store and Fisher's News Agency or from any Booster Club member.

Top Bowling Team Gives Poor Showing

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—The Hamm's team of Chicago, expected to challenge the classic division leaders in the American Bowling Congress tournament, turned in only a mediocre performance Thursday night.

The team shot 2858 in its first three-game block, and Andy Rogoznica's 593 series was the only performance resembling a 200 average.

The Hamm's roll their final three-game block tonight with slim chance of catching the Detroit Continentals who led the professional division with a six-game total of 6103.

Winners Hold Down Second Place

Bricker's Wallops Old Dutch 87-61 In Class 'A' Action

Bricker & Bricker's cage team stayed right on the heels of league-leading Salem Stamping in the second round of play in the City Class A Basketball League with an impressive 87-61 win over first round champ Old Dutch on the Memorial Building hardwood Thursday night.

Bricker's stayed undefeated at 6-0, while Old Dutch dropped to 4-2. Salem Stamping holds the lead with a 7-0 record with three more tilts to play.

McKinley Cagers Near 2nd Round Basketball Title

McKinley continued along toward the second round basketball title in the Mickey McGuire League with an 18-15 decision over Prospect School Thursday afternoon in the Prospect gym.

McKinley, which has a 4-0 mark with only one game remaining, moved to victory in thesecond half after being down 12-10 at halftime. The winners pulled ahead 14-12 at the three-quarter post. King tallied seven points for McKinley, while Schuster led Prospect with six.

In other grade school action yesterday, Fourth Street trounced Buckeye 50-13 and Reilly blasted St. Paul's 36-7.

Fourth Street led all the way in its tilt with Buckeye by quarter counts of 13-4, 26-8 and 38-11. John Minarcik and Rick Liber each garnered 16 counters for the winners, while Berg and Brantingham led Buckeye with four tallies apiece.

Reilly shut out St. Paul's in both the first and fourth quarters to win easily. The period scores were 14-0, 30-1 and 32-6. Kenst meshed 12 points and Culler eight to feature for the winners, while Scullion was high for St. Paul's with three.

The standings in the league's second round thus far are as follows:

Team	W	L
McKinley	4	0
Fourth Street	3	1
Prospect	2	2
Reilly	2	2
Buckeye	1	3
St. Paul's	0	4

Saxon Lanes Bowling Tourney Begins Today

The Saxon Lanes first five-man team handicap bowling tournament will begin today and run for seven weekends, ending April 29, according to Joe Vogelhuber, tournament secretary.

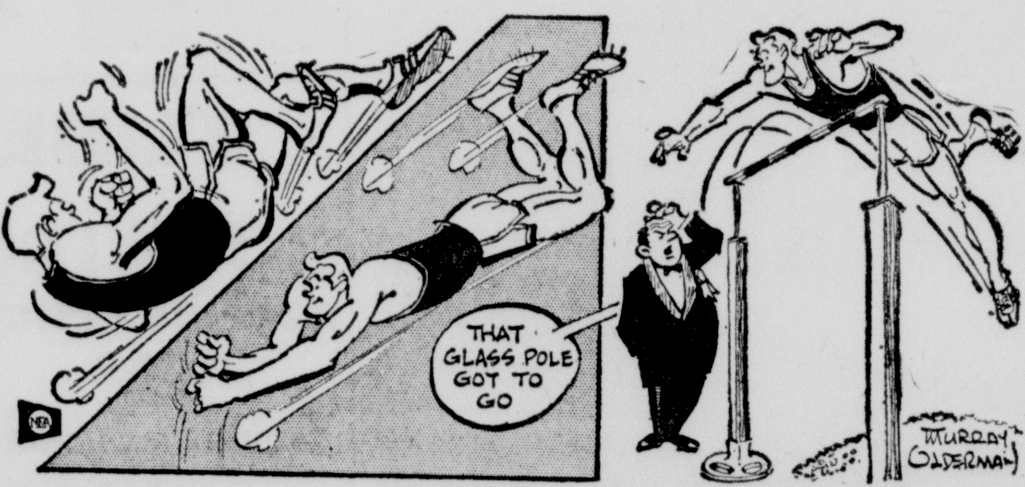

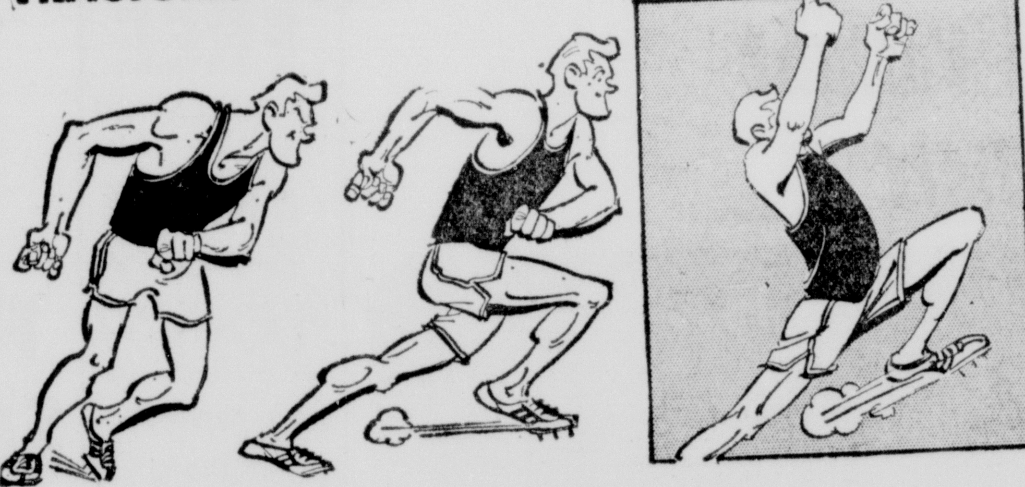

Vogelhuber said there would be approximately 200 teams in the tourney, with many openings still available. Representatives of any teams wishing to enter the tourney are asked to contact Vogelhuber at the Saxon Lanes (332-4088) for reservations.

A $500 first prize will be awarded, with the runner-up team getting $300 and third place $200. Many other cash prizes will be awarded top scores in the tourney.

To Be Irish

By HAL BOYLE

EDITOR'S NOTE — More than 20 million Irish-Americans and their friends will honor the memory of blessed St. Patrick Saturday. The following column, reprinted by request, tells how it feels to be Irish on that day of days.

NEW YORK (AP)—What is it to be Irish?

How can you put the wonder of it into words? If a psychiatrist stretched himself out on his own warm couch after his last customer had gone home, and he dreamed of the man he himself would most like to be—well, he might be perfect, but he'd still be only half an Irishman on St. Patrick's Day.

What is it to be Irish then?

It is to have an angel in your mouth, turning your prose to poetry. It is to have the gift of tongues, to know the language of all living things. Does an Irishman pause and turn an ear to a tree? It is because on this day he wants to hear what one sleepy bud says to another as it opens its pale green hands to the warm sun of spring.

What is it to be Irish?

Oh, on this day it is music. Not just the cornet in the parading high school band, but the deep, deep music of living; the low, sad rhythms of eternity. The Irishman hears the high song of the turning spheres, the dim lullaby of the worm in its cocoon. All the world is in tune, and he is in step with the tune, the tune that only he can hear.

What is it to be Irish?

It is to live the whole history of his race between a dawn and a dawn—the long wrongs, the bird-swift joys, the endless hurt of his ancestors since the morning of time in a forgotten forest, the knock-at-his-heart that is part of his religion.

St., a patient in Crile Veterans Hospital in Cleveland the past five weeks, underwent surgery Tuesday for removal of a disc. It is expected that he will be in the hospital for several more weeks. Mrs. H. O. Coleman of Marion is visiting in the home of her sister, Mrs. D. H. Hepburn of E. High St.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. H. T. HYMAN

Are You Nervous or Neurotic?

Q—Ever since my son has gone to medical school, all I hear is "neurosis." If I'm nervous about something, he says I'm a "neurotic." If I say why, he says it's my "neurosis." What's the difference between being nervous and being neurotic? What's the difference between worrying and having a neurosis?

A—You've asked a good question, dear mother. First off, let me tell you about your son. He's just like most medical students. They see everything in terms of illness or disease. I remember a wise instructor of my student days who warned our all - male class of the danger that faced us. "You boys," he said, "will soon have every symptom you hear about, maybe including morning sickness."

Now as to the differences you ask. Where does nervousness leave off and a neurosis begin? Where does worrying end and an anxiety neurosis come into the picture?

Let's reduce both questions to a specific instance for there's no definite yardstick with which to make a measurement. Suppose your son goes out on a date and doesn't get home by midnight. You wait up for him and, when he comes in, you rebuke him because you've been nervous about his safety.

Now, if his date was with someone who might have done him harm, or if he had to make his way home through a dangerous area, your nervousness would have been justified, and he'd be doing you an injustice if he said you were being neurotic.

BUT IF HIS DATE was with a fellow student or a nice girl, and if his outing took him no further than the near vicinity of your home and, if under these circumstances, you still stayed up for his return, worried unduly and unnecessarily and then rebuked him for his delayed homecoming, he'd be justified in stating that you suffered from anxiety neurosis.

In other words, you'd merely be "nervous" if your worry were justified by circumstances and if your anxiety disappeared when the circumstances no longer justified any feeling of apprehension. You'd be showing the signs of an "anxiety neurosis" if circumstances did not warrant the extent and duration of the "worry" you suffered and the rebuke you administered to him.

Like the Einstein theory, it's all a matter of relativity. That's why you find doctors and even nerve specialists disagreeing as to the sanity of a prisoner when they are called as "experts" in court procedures.
